

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Says a Few Things About the Weather. She Talks of Newport Doings—The Russell Duanes in the West—Other Matters

WHAT on earth shall I talk about today? It's done nothing but rain, rain, rain, till every one is about as soaked as the wheat crop, and that's going some! Did you ever know anything to beat it, and when you hear that, don't you want to kick someone? And yet don't you want to say it yourself? You do.

Why, yesterday I was going out where I wanted to look decently dressed and I spent the whole morning changing first into white shoes and a light frock when the sun was out, and then before the frock was buttoned on, the rain would pour down again and into dark shoes and gown, got to be removed them a half hour later when the sun came out and got into the summery outfit once more. Then, finally finish up in the dark confection and out in the street in the sun.

However, there are some places where the sun is shining a bit. At Newport it is not hot, only one day of rain I hear, and out in Ohio no bad weather at all. So they'll get theirs after a while, and we will put in the days of exceeding hot sun, I doubt not, ere this summer is over.

I SAW Ezra Hunter Davis in the middle of one of the pours of Sunday looking very well in a flowered pink voile frock and a pastel green hat trimmed with wild flowers. She was waiting under an awning, and Doctor Davis was with her wearing flannels and a dark coat. Fortunately, their car came for them, and they managed to elude the young deluge which was emptying itself from the clouds at that moment.

THE Joe Wilensers will give a dinner-dance in Newport on the eighth of August for Arel, their son. Arel will be in the service over there, and is now spending the summer in Newport with his parents. Fifi, as I told you, is not to come out until next year, as she is still only seventeen. The dinner dance is to be given for the younger set, and some of the younger married people will go too. I have not heard that any subsidies will be there, unless Fifi herself is present, and I suppose she will be. It's hard to have a party and exclude one's daughter just because she is a year too young.

WHAT a wonderful time Mrs. Russell Duane had in Japan! She and her daughter went on several months ago to visit Mrs. Duane's brother and sister-in-law the Roy Morris, and they had an audience with the empress everything. And they have come back to our own country now by way of San Francisco. I understand, Mrs. Morris and Sarah and Ted Morris came over with them, but Mrs. Morris will probably stay out in the West and return to Japan, while the Duanes will come back to Philadelphia traveling slowly through the West.

QUITE a number of the Y workers are homebound bound these days. Miss Esther Lloyd, who has been working wonderfully at Brest, is on her way back to Newport for some time and had charge of the hostess house in Brest for awhile and of the rest house in Brittany just outside of Brest. She was quite ill but, has recovered and has been working at Federe where the army is put up a wonderful bit and the Y is in charge. They have a huge stage at one end of the kitchen and counter where the Y girls serve the boys.

I understand there was a costume party held there last week and the men all appeared in Y. M. C. A. aprons and caps, and what the girls' costumes were was not stated. It's awfully hard work, but it must pay to know how much you are helping to brighten the soldiers who are awaiting to return home.

Elizabeth Williams has been working in Brest. She is to return home soon and Eleanor Biaphan has done really splendid work over there, too. It's wonderful how many girls from here have gone over, and even come back, and some of us do not even know that they had gone, yet they have been there for months; and believe me, the boys over there know that they have been there, and they won't forget it.

YOU never can tell what is going to happen even when you go to church. Usually, you think there'll be a hymn here and a prayer there and a sermon here, but the regular dollops at a certain very fashionable suburban church were almost upset by a most unusual incident last Sunday.

It was about time for the sermon, and suddenly there was much whispering and shuffling about near the pulpit; and then one usher appeared from the bottom of the church and another from the top of the church, and both "che, che, che" were heard and "shoo, shoo, shoo." And then every one saw the cat, descending from the pulpit, while the reactor, taking her place, gave out the text.

WILL CAST BALLOT FOR MISSION HEAD

Very Rev. Patrick McHale to Have Vote in Election of Superior General

The Very Rev. Patrick McHale, rector of St. Vincent de Paul's Catholic Church, Germantown, will sail Saturday on the Aquitania to take part in the election in Paris of a superior general of the Congregation of the Mission, founded by St. Vincent de Paul in 1622.

Father McHale will be accompanied on his trip across, but will be joined later by the two provincial delegates chosen by the provincial assembly June 24 to represent this province. The two delegates are the Rev. J. A. Hartnett, pastor of St. Catherine's, and the Rev. William Hector, professor of theology at St. Vincent's Seminary.

A general conference of provincial superiors and delegates is held every twelve years and at such emergency times as may be necessary. The last general conference was held in 1914, when Father McHale was elected superior general. Since his death in 1916 the office has been vacant.

Thirty-three provinces all over the world will be represented and the conference will number about one hundred priests. The meeting is always held in Paris and it has been customary to elect a Frenchman as superior general.

Father McHale is the provincial superior of the eastern province of the United States, a territory including the canal zone and dioceses east of Chicago. The office is held by appointment from the superior general of the order and is indefinite in length of time. This is the fourth time that Father McHale has attended the Paris conference, his first trip having been made in 1890.

The election of the superior general will take place at 155 Rue de Sevres, on September 27. The language of the conference is Latin and following the election of the new head of the order, there will be a business session lasting perhaps a month. All deliberations on the laws and organization of the order and other subjects to be discussed at the conference will be conducted in the conference language.

During the absence of Father McHale, the parish duties will be undertaken by the Rev. F. J. Mann, superior of St. Vincent's Seminary.

$75,000,000 HANGS ON WORD

Interpretation of "Issue" to Decide Big Marshall Field Bequest

Chicago, July 23.—The ultimate ownership of perhaps $75,000,000 of the estate of Marshall Field, Sr., hangs on the interpretation by the court of one word in the famous will. If it is construed that Mr. Field meant "lawful issue" when he used the word "issue," Captain Marshall Field, 3d, probably will inherit most of the share of his dead brother, Henry Field.

On the other hand, if it is decided that an "issue" is covered, Henry Anthony Marsh, Henry Field's son born out of wedlock, will be entitled to the late Henry Field's portion of the estate, with the exception of the dower rights of his widow, Mrs. Nancy Perkins Field.

This became known when a long cross bill was filed by the attorneys of Captain Marshall Field.

An attempt to forestall the claim of Mrs. Peggy Marsh for her child and an effort on the part of Captain Field to obtain possession of the bulk of the estate are stated as reasons for the filing of the bill.

CLERGYMEN APPROVE EXCHANGING PASTORS

Believe Plan Is Fostered by British and American Governments

The plan to exchange Protestant ministers of various faiths between this country and Great Britain, recently put forward, is approved in this city by both the clergy and laymen. No details, however, have been received here of the plan and, as yet, no Philadelphia clergymen have been selected to visit England, as far as is known by those most prominent in church organizations.

Announcement has been made in England of the formation of a linked organization with the approval of the American and English Governments through which the churches of both countries may exchange preachers. Some of the influential ministers here seem to be of the opinion that the plan is really a government one, and not under ministerial direction.

Bishop Thomas J. Garland commented as follows: "It's a fine idea, which follows out, I think, the policy of the governments during the war, which resulted in the sending of the Bishops of this country to England myself in a short time. It is, I believe, more of a governmental than a ministerial affair, and I have heard no details concerning it in this city."

George Wharton Pepper said: "I haven't heard a thing about it. Sounds good, but I wouldn't care to comment until I learn some details."

The Rev. Floyd Tomkins was equally unacquainted with the details of the plan, declaring that he knew nothing except what he had read in the paper.

The Rev. William H. Roberts, said: "Of course, I approve of it. I am proud of anything that will cement the friendship of the two countries. I have heard rumors of this, but have had no definite details of any character. I am going to England myself in a short time, but it is not in connection with this. I am merely going as a representative to the great Presbyterian union."

The following British ministers are scheduled to come to this country: The Rev. John Baillie, M. A., ex-minister in philosophy at the Edinburgh university, who leaves in September to take a year's professorship at Auburn Seminary, from which he will be available for preaching; Dr. Hensley Henson, bishop of Hereford; Dr. Wallace Williamson, of Edinburgh; and Dr. Alfred Ernest Garcia, a Unitarian-closet of the Congregational Union.

All have agreed to cross overseas and occupy American pulpits. Dr. John Daniel Jones, of Bournemouth, is coming to America, especially to Congregational churches.

A selection of leading British Methodists is being made probably to take the Rev. F. Luke Wiseman, Dr. Campbell Morgan will associate himself with the work of Dr. W. W. White at the Bible Institute in New York. Dr. Adam W. Ferguson will supply the Presbyterian church at Montclair, N. J. The Rev. Douglas MacFadyen, the Rev. F. R. Hist and the Rev. M. E. Aubrey will occupy pulpits in New York, Boston and Washington.

The list is only partially made up. In return the British have prepared a warm welcome for the American ministers who will exchange congregations across the seas.

SUES FOR BROKEN PROMISE

Detroit Girl Says Philadelphia Violated His Marriage Pledge

Miss Christine Kern, a young woman from Detroit, Mich., has brought suit for $10,000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage, against Louis Nubbenmeyer, of this city. Suit was entered in Common Pleas Court No. 2.

Miss Kern says she left Detroit some time ago to come here at the request of Nubbenmeyer who "had professed great love for her." Nubbenmeyer, she says, provided for her support and gave her presents of clothing and jewelry.

She took her to places of amusement and entertainment and was in every way devoted in his attention to her. As a result they became engaged last September to be married.

This continued up until last June 27, according to Miss Kern, which was the month in which they were to be married, and then "suddenly and without cause or provocation, Nubbenmeyer informed her that he did not intend to fulfill his engagement to marry her."

She also says that Nubbenmeyer has stopped contributing to her support, or visiting her and she is left abandoned by him and friendless, without employment or means of support, in a strange city, Nubbenmeyer having prevented her from making the acquaintance or receiving the attentions of other young men.

PROPOSE TRAINING CAMPS FOR WOMEN'S BETTERMENT

Value of Outdoor Life Shown by Effects on Men, Says Mrs. S. B. Jarden, Who Is Interesting Women Here in Military Movement

UNITED STATES training camps for women, corresponding to military camps for men, are the design of the National Federation of Women's Clubs. The establishments of such camps throughout the country will be discussed this fall at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania federation members Mrs. S. B. Jarden, of Philadelphia, state chairman of the department of health and hygiene, is interesting women here in the movement.

Physicians and health experts are heartily in favor of the movement. Officers, a board of managers and committees have already been appointed, and it is expected the first camps will be established in the country. The federation homes to bring the camps under the jurisdiction of the United States Government.

"Since we have seen the wonderful benefits of outdoor life and military training for our boys," said Mrs. Jarden today, "we realize that something of this sort would be of vital importance to the women of our country. It would make them physically fit; train them in alertness, in discipline and give them some time in an outdoor camp. Military setting up exercises have been found excellent for women as well as men."

PROPOSE TRAINING CAMPS FOR WOMEN'S BETTERMENT

Value of Outdoor Life Shown by Effects on Men, Says Mrs. S. B. Jarden, Who Is Interesting Women Here in Military Movement

UNITED STATES training camps for women, corresponding to military camps for men, are the design of the National Federation of Women's Clubs. The establishments of such camps throughout the country will be discussed this fall at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania federation members Mrs. S. B. Jarden, of Philadelphia, state chairman of the department of health and hygiene, is interesting women here in the movement.

Physicians and health experts are heartily in favor of the movement. Officers, a board of managers and committees have already been appointed, and it is expected the first camps will be established in the country. The federation homes to bring the camps under the jurisdiction of the United States Government.

"Since we have seen the wonderful benefits of outdoor life and military training for our boys," said Mrs. Jarden today, "we realize that something of this sort would be of vital importance to the women of our country. It would make them physically fit; train them in alertness, in discipline and give them some time in an outdoor camp. Military setting up exercises have been found excellent for women as well as men."

Weekly Cost $12 Each "Such camps, we believe, would be especially beneficial close to industrial centers, where many women are employed indoors. It is estimated that we could open such a camp at a cost of $12 a week to each member at the beginning, and later, perhaps, reduce this to even a smaller minimum. The training camp would by no means be a money-making scheme. It would have to be supported by voluntary subscriptions until taken over by the government."

The military training camp for women is just one of the movements which the department of health and hygiene will have to consider at the annual meeting of this fall. And most of the plans are the result of after-war conditions, an effort on the part of the women to aid in readjustment. They are hoping to carry further all the developments made in occupational therapy during the war. They hope to influence public opinion so the next Legislature will take some way for the extension and development of occupational therapy.

"It is not enough," said Mrs. Jarden, "that we should have given convalescent and crippled soldiers a new lease on life through occupational therapy. We must carry the thing further to assist the crippled and invalids and continue the work which gained such impetus during the war."

Another question the health and hygiene department will consider is the illegal adulteration and use of "fake" flavorings in soft drinks and confections. Committees will keep in touch with the manufacture and sale of such articles this summer. Members of the meeting in October. Members of the committee say they have received complaints from prominent citizens and physicians.

To Deal With Big Problems The housing and transportation problems that are agitating people all over the country, and which are especially acute in Pennsylvania, will be an important topic for consideration. Community recreation and Americanization will be discussed. Social hygiene will be another subject in which the department is vitally interested.

Baby-saving, an old problem, will come up again with renewed interest. Mrs. Jarden and her county committee women are working hard to prove that baby-saving is a municipal responsibility, and that free clinic should be open all the time for both rich and poor.

"Public health nursing will receive much attention from this department this year," said Mrs. Jarden. "The influenza epidemic proved to us so conclusively the need for competent nurses in greater numbers, that we shall make every effort to better conditions. We hope to establish through the federation, scholarships which will enable graduate nurses, who cannot afford to spend further time and money on training, to have at least one year in special training in social diseases. Public health nurses are needed everywhere. They keep in touch with the center of diseases; they are trained social workers, ready to meet all emergencies. And we hope to increase the number of these experts in our community, in the interest of public health."

The annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in Scranton the second week of October. As the meeting was called off last year, it is expected to be of unusual importance and interest. Department conferences will be held in the days preceding the general federation meeting.

WILL WED IN PLANE, PASTOR IN ANOTHER, USING RADIO PHONE

Then, After Ceremony, Comrades of Officer Will Form Heavenly Parade

New York, July 23.—The heavens will be the cathedral in which Lieutenant George H. Burgess, American air service, will marry Miss Mills K. Schaefer, of Senago, next Saturday.

In an army biplane a thousand feet above the throng at the polo field day events at Roosevelt Field, Brooklyn, will be joined by radio telephone. They will be in one machine, speeding along at sixty miles an hour.

In the second machine racing with them will be the clergyman, the Rev. Alexander Wouters, pastor of the Edgewood Reformed Church of Brooklyn, and the best man, Lieutenant Eugene H. Barksdale, also of the air service. Miss Doris K. Schob, the bridesmaid, will be in a plane piloted by Colonel Archie Miller.

On the ground below, nine bands will try to send the strains of the customary wedding marches into the clouds and the humming of the motors to the ears of the wedding party. Governor Smith and other men of prominence will watch the wedding in the clouds and listen to the ceremony through wireless receivers.

When the aviator and his bride have been made one piece by a wedding procession in the clouds, consisting of about thirty airplanes, a white steamer will be attached to the fuselage of the airplane, in which the bride and bridegroom are flying, to distinguish it from the other machines.

PEERS LIMIT SUFFRAGE

British House of Lords Passes Bill on Second Reading

London, July 23.—(By A. P.)—The bill entitling women to hold public offices and exercise public functions, which passed second reading in the House of Lords yesterday, is now introduced by the government as a substitute
